Old Buildings Are Dedicated at Washington

WASHINGTON, Ark. (AP)—Jim Bowie might have recognized the surroundings, but he would have been amazed at the activity in the blacksmith shop where his famed knife was forged.

Present at the blacksmith shop and accompanying old tavern Wednesday were ladies garbed in period costumes and a host of state officials headed by Gov. Orval E. Faubus and Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark.

The occasion was the formal dedication of the restored shop in this historic southern Arkansas village. The James Black shop, where the blacksmith created the frontier knife designed by Bowie, and the old tavern have been re-created as nearly as possible to the conditions that existed when Bowie was a customer there.

Eventually, the Pioneer Washington Restoration Foundation hopes to rebuild more of the town. The tavern and smith restoration is the first step. It was boosted by a $30,000 gift from William R. King, chairman of the board of the William R. Moore Dry Goods Co. in Memphis, and a $15,000 donation from Albert G. Simms of Albuquerque, N. M.

Neill Bohlinger of Little Rock, state Highway Department attorney, urged Arkansans in a dedication address not to forget historical landmarks. "They are your tradition, your history," he said.

Washington was a Civil War capital of Arkansas after the state government was forced to flee Little Rock. For many years it was the Hempstead County seat, which now is situated at Hope.

Dictator Shot It Out and Lost

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Dominican dictator Rafael L. Trujillo, though wounded, managed to draw his revolver and shoot it out with a band of assassins before being killed Tuesday night, an official statement said today.

The Dominican armed forces, which are investigating the murder of the 60-year-old strong man, gave this story:

A group that had planned the assassination three months ago attacked as Trujillo and his personal driver, Capt. Zacarias del Cruz, were motoring from Ciudad Trujillo to the dictator's estate in his home town of San Cristobal.

The driver and Trujillo were wounded by the first burst of gunfire. Trujillo ordered the car stopped, drew his revolver and returned the fire.

The driver used one of the Tommy guns usually carried in the car. The driver said Trujillo had no time to use his.

Trujillo fell out of the car and the attackers beat him, seriously cutting his face and injuring his left arm. Trujillo was killed and his body taken to a nearby car and put in the trunk. The body was found there later.

One of the attackers was seriously wounded and another was presumed injured. The exact number of attackers was not known.

The armed forces said one of the conspirators against Trujillo was a former brigadier general, Juan Tomas Diaz.

Washington Salutes

THE WOMEN AND GIRLS OF WASHINGTON TURNED OUT IN FRONTIER costumes Wednesday evening when the Pioneer Washington Restoration Foundation, which is reconstructing the town as it was when Col. James Bowie and fellow frontiersmen stopped there to plan the liberation of Texas in the 1830's, dedicated the Old Tavern and the James Black smithy — and paid tribute to the donors who made these first two reproductions possible.

RIGHT — NEILL BOHLINGER, LITTLE ROCK ATTORNEY, who made the speech dedicating the Smithy at 6 p. m.; and Mrs. Charles A. Haynes, executive director of the Washington Foundation, who introduced him.

AP Uses 2 of Washington, Pix

The Associated Press transmitted to today's evening newspapers two of The Star's Washington dedication pictures — the costumed women in front of the James Black Smithy, and the four notables in the surrey with the fringe on top.

The Star's editor had a busy Wednesday night. After shooting the pictures he returned to Hope, developed eight negatives, telephoned the story to AP at 8 p. m., then got out three enlargements and forwarded them to the AP Little Rock bureau along with their negatives, on the midnight bus.

He had to appeal to the Hope Police Department for help, and it was the prowl car which flagged down the bus and got the pictures on board.

Meanwhile the editor finished nine more enlargements, went home — and made the printing plates this morning for today's edition. Today's Star also carries the AP story which went out to today's evening papers.

$3.6 Billion Tax Extended by Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee today approved extension for one year of $3.6 billion worth of existing taxes on passenger tickets, telephone service, alcohol, tobacco and other goods.

The extension bill now goes to the House, where it is assured quick handling. The taxes expire or drop in rate unless Congress completes action by July 1.

The Treasury had said it is essential to continue the present rates of these excise taxes, which for the most part were increased during the Korean War and have been continued year to year since then. The present 52 per cent corporate income tax also is included.

The committee voted 22-3 in closed session to continue the taxes. A stiff party-line fight was reported on the 10 per cent passenger transportation tax, which is opposed most strenuously by airlines. Without congressional action, it would drop to 5 per cent. A move to repeal the tax outright was defeated in the committee, reportedly by a straight vote of 15 Democrats against 10 Republicans.

JFK, DeGaulle Agree on Key World Issues

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

PARIS (AP)—President Kennedy urged members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization today to concern themselves "with the whole southern half of the globe, where we and our freedoms are now in peril."

The President, addressing a special session of the NATO council, cautioned there should be no less attention to the protection of the North Atlantic area. He had just come to agreement with France's President Charles de Gaulle on a tough Western posture to the Communists on the issue of threatened West Berlin.

But the President, advising a broadened NATO outlook, added that "the other side of the table," referring to the Communist bloc, has been making advances in the southern half of the globe, including Asia, Latin America and Africa.

Earlier, Kennedy and De Gaulle began their second day of talks on world issues, agreed that the

Revenue Still Can't Match Legislature

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State revenues increased in May, but the outlook still isn't promising for matching the expectations of the Legislature, Revenue Commissioner J. Orville Cheney reported today.

Cheney said that through 11 months of the current fiscal year, general revenues will total about $102.6 million. The Legislature based its appropriations for the new fiscal year starting July 1 on anticipated revenue of $110 million.

The rate of increase shown in May collections is not enough to boost revenue to the $110 million mark.

The state Welfare Department and some other agencies were warned last month that they might not get all of the increases in appropriations voted by the last General Assembly because revenues might not increase enough to provide the money.

The only cutback would be in appropriation increases — that is, cases where an agency was voted more for the next fiscal year than it received this year.

Officials had predicted revenues for the current year of $102.2 million and it now appears that estimate will be exceeded.

Woman Who Fought Nazis Is Killed

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—A woman once decorated by Gen. Charles de Gaulle for her underground work and years later acquitted of manslaughter in the shooting of a young sailor, died of stab wounds on a downtown sidewalk early today.

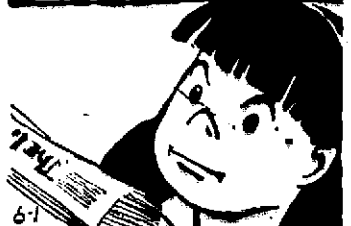

Nina Leona Butler, 52, was apparently being pursued when she fell through the window of a store. She died while bystanders tried to stem bleeding in a neck wound. She had been stabbed in the breast and thigh also.

Sidney A. Wilson, clerk in a nearby hotel, said an unidentified man stood around for a moment while others tried to help the dying woman and then hurried off.

Mrs. Butler was acquitted early in 1960 on a charge of manslaughter in the shooting of Gary Moretz, 18, outside her home. Mrs. Butler testified she had been bothered by prowlers and thought that Moretz was an intruder. The youth's grandmother lived next door to Mrs. Butler.

A native of Liege, Belgium, Mrs. Butler married U.S. soldier Doyle E. Butler in 1944 but was divorced.

Tulsa Youth Is Spelling Champ

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Capehart, 12, Tulsa, Okla., won the 1961 National Spelling Bee today.

The calm young son of a neurosurgeon outspelled Mary Lukes of Oxnard Calif., in the 26th round for his victory over more than five million other youngsters who started in regional competition.

John's triumph was set up by correctly spelling "distichous," which means arranged in two vertical rows, after Mary had misspelled it "distychous."

He then clinched the championship by spelling "smaragdine," as his extra required word.

He did not even pause for the pronouncer to define the word, which means of or pertaining to emerald.

The field, which started out at 73 Wednesday, was cut to 17-12 girls and 5 boys—in those rounds.

Then today's first round of blockbusters trimmed the list to 9. Eight finalists fell in the first round of the second day of competition.

The contest is sponsored by Scripps-Howard newspapers in 18 cities and 54 other newspapers and radio and television stations.

Sees Election at Vacation Time

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Education Association is preparing for the possibility that Gov. Orval E. Faubus may schedule an election on a $60 million bond issue proposal during school vacations.

Forrest Rozzell, executive secretary of the educational organization which is opposing the bond issue, said Wednesday that the AEA is trying to get lists of teachers in every district who are going to be gone during the summer. ## Rusk Decides to Join JFK in France

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk set out today on his delayed trip to join President Kennedy in Europe, signaling a belief that the assassination of Dominican dictator Rafael L. Trujillo will not result in the immediate turmoil officials had feared.

Rusk had been scheduled to leave Wednesday to back up Kennedy in his talks in Paris with French President Charles de Gaulle and later in Vienna with Soviet Premier Khrushchev. Instead he was held here to take personal charge of dealing with the Dominican situation.

That decision underscored the anxiety with which American officials were watching for clues as to which way the Caribbean country will shift.

Rusk's plane was due in Paris at 9 a.m. Paris time Friday.

Just before takeoff, Rusk told newsmen at National Airport that there is no way of knowing at this time what kind of government will finally take over in the Dominican Republic.

U.S. authorities said information seeping out from tightly censored Ciudad Trujillo indicated the Trujillo group, under figurehead President Joquin Balager, still was in control.

The slide occurred at Clamart. Heavy rains may have caused foundations to slip on hilly ground.

Arkla revealed this Wednesday in a letter to the Arkansas Public Service Commission, which has been asked to set aside the 70-cent a month rate increase.

Arkla started collecting the additional amount, an increase in its minimum bill, April 1, but a number of cities have protested.

Both the objecting cities and the PSC have hired rate experts to study the Arkla case and another hearing is tentatively scheduled for June 16.

Executioner for Castro Deportable

NEW YORK (AP) — Herman Frederick Marks, 39, Milwaukee-born adventurer known as the executioner for Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's forces, was ruled a deportable alien today by the New York office of the U.S. Naturalization and Immigration Service.

Marks has 10 days to appeal to the service's Washington headquarters.

He defected from the Cuban army and re-entered the United States via Mexico last July 22 at El Paso. He was arrested in New York last Jan. 25.

The immigration service contends he lost his American citizenship by serving in Castro's armed forces. The Cuban army has listed him as a deserter. Military sources in Havana have said he possibly would face a firing squad if he returned to Cuba. Marks faces possible deportation to Cuba, for having served under Castro, or to Mexico, because he entered this country from there.

If neither country agreed to accept him, it would be necessary to find some other country willing to do so, immigration authorities have said.

Immigration officials said Marks has a record in the United States of more than 30 arrests. The charges included rape, draft dodging, assault, auto theft, vagrancy and drunkenness.

They said he had made jail breaks from a Wisconsin reform

Rail Law Vote Is Assured

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A campaign to refer to a popular vote the 1961 legislative repeal of the railroad lookout law gained momentum Wednesday when petitions containing 15,567 signatures were filed with the Secretary of State.

Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon, who opposed the repealer during the legislative session, and Little Rock attorney James L. Sloan filed the petitions.

Legislative supporters of the repeal act said it was designed solely to put railroads on a par with others in damage suits.

The state law is repealed required train crewmen to watch for persons or property on railroad right of way.

In order to get the repeal act referred to a popular vote, at the 1962 general election, 25,319 petition signatures must be filed by June 6.

Ball-May Vows Pledged
The Walnut Street Church of Christ was the setting on May 28 for the wedding of Miss Dorothy Louise Ball and Robert Andrew May. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. A. C. Ball and the late Mr. Ball of Hope. Mr. May is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Chester May also of Hope.

Bro. Milton H. Peebles of Saratoga performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with sunburst arrangements of white gladioli. The altar was decorated with greenery flanked with fern trees and cathedral tapers in seven branched candelabra. Wedding songs by the Harding College Chorus were heard during the presentation of pre-nuptial music. Also, Mrs. Millard Ball of Okay sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "I Love You Truly." Candles were lighted by Bobo Ball, brother of the bride, and James Shackley of Haynesville, La., her cousin.

Given in marriage by her brother, Buddy Ball, of Harrison, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin and Chantilly lace. Fashioned with a fitted bodice, the dress had a neckline which dipped to a "V" in the back accented with seed pearls and sequins. Long lace sleeves ended in puffed points over the hands. The bouffant skirt had large inverted plaits alternating with lace panels studded with sequins and pearls. Her only jewelry was a diamond drop necklace which had belonged to her great grandmother and is a traditional part of the wedding ensemble in the bride's family. The finger tip illusion veil fell from a coronet of satin and lace embroidered with sequins and pearls. Her bouquet was of orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. J. B. Henry of Texarkana sister of the bride, was her matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Glenda Faye Ball, sister, and Miss Syble Putman. The attendants wore dresses of blue, lilac and pink, respectively, made of satinated cotton. With the street-length dresses they wore crowns which held in place short veils and pert little bows. Gloves and slippers were of a matching shade. Each carried a crescent bouquet of pink feathered carnations.

Little Misses Sandra May and

Sherry Crank, sister and cousin of the groom, were flower girls. They wore pastel dresses similar in styling to those of the other attendants. Pink carnations were in their hair, and they carried baskets of rose petals.

Rickey Ball of Okay, cousin of the bride, was the ring bearer. The father of the groom was his best man. Groomsmen were Ezra Thomas and Raymond Powell, of Palmos, but now serving with the Air Force. John May, brother of the groom and J. B. Henry of Texarkana were ushers.

For her daughters wedding Mrs. Ball chose a sheath dress of brown summer dacton with pink accessories. The groom's mother, Mrs. May, wore pink lace over taffeta with matching accessories. Their corsages were of feathered pink carnations.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's mother. The table was covered with a floor-length cloth of net applied with lace like that used to trim the bride's wedding gown. It was caught up at each corner with white satin bows and wedding bells. In the center was an arrangement of white carnations.

From a crystal bowl punch was served by Miss Jeanne Hames of Harrison, while Mrs. Vance Wilkinson served the three-tiered wedding cake. The cake was embellished with tiny rosebuds and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Miss Janet Terrell had charge of the bride's book.

For the wedding trip the bride chose a summer suit of brown shantung with beige accessories. Her ensemble was complimented with the orchid from her bouquet. The couple will be at home this summer in Fayetteville, where the groom is a student at the U of A.

Should Youth, 18, Court Wife, 33?

BY HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE
Dear Helen: For seven months I have been madly in love with a woman 15 years older than I, who is madly in love with me. I am only 18 and still in high school. She is married with two small children. She and her husband are thinking of divorce but are staying together because of the children. I go see her frequently when her husband is at work but I have also gone to their house many times as a friend of the family. He has seen us together and not complained. We talk of marriage seriously but wonder if it would work out because of our age difference. As yet I have not discussed this with my parents or anyone else. I await your advice. —Befuddled

Dear Befuddled: Such a marriage would be doomed. Age isn't the only hurdle. Have you no conscience? How can you accept this poor husband's hospitality and at the same time be plotting to break up his home? Put this woman out of your mind. Such a liaison is the road to ruin for you both. She's old enough to know better if you're not.

Dear Helen: I had an agreement with a boy who joined the Army and went overseas (we've known each other since the eighth grade), that we would both date others and if we still felt the same way about one another, would become engaged when he returned.

He's back and still feels the same way but I have doubts. He wants to make the Army his career. He also wants to be an officer. When he was away I had an emptiness, now—? Our families are closely knit. We are of the same religion. I am 19, graduated from high school, have my degree as a masseuse and love my work. He wants everything left up to him. When we were in high school he used me. I haven't forgotten. He says he loves and wants to marry me. Should I? —A.

Dear A.: You've answered the question by asking it. No. The small flaws you find in this boy's character now would be magnified by marriage.

Send your problems to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful hints available.

Drug Cures One Type of Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Surgeon General Luther Terry says "We have experience with a drug which has almost certainly cured cancer in man."

He stressed, in an interview Tuesday night over radio station WDCB, that the drug cures only a type of cancer which affects pregnant women.

"This is a very exciting thing. Now this is a very specific type of cancer in which there are not a great number of cases, but it's one of the widely growing cancers that happens to originate in the womb of a pregnant woman in the membranes," he said.

"And in the past when this cancer has arisen, it's been widely growing and fatal in every instance. We have just passed the stage now, where, after treatment of a group of these cases over a long period of time, we feel hopeful, in fact almost confident that we have gotten actual cures."

He did not mention the name of the drug.

The surgeon general said however, there were many types of cancer, and added: "It's very likely that when we find a cure for one type of cancer it will not necessarily be applicable to another type of cancer. In other words, something that—a drug—that might cure cancer of the breast, might not cure cancer of the lung or cancer of the intestine."

A spokesman for the National Institutes of Health, a division of the U.S. Public Health Service, said about half of the 60 women cancer patients treated with the chemical over a period of years had survived.

JFK DeGaulle

West must stand firm in Berlin but still divided on France's demand for an equal voice with Britain and the United States in the direction of Allied policy.

Kennedy arrived at the Elysee Palace shortly after 10 a.m. for the first of two extended conversations today with the French president. De Gaulle was on the steps of the palace, waiting to greet his American guest.

En route to his morning conference with De Gaulle, Kennedy stopped at the U.S. Embassy and told 500 cheering employees he plans to "take every measure to strengthen common ties between France and the United States.

"This country is extremely vital to the common cause," the President said, adding that Frenchmen have a special voice and special prestige.

The agreement on Berlin strengthens the policy basis for Kennedy's exploratory talks with Soviet Premier Khrushchev this weekend in Vienna, Austria. The French indicated they were confident Kennedy would take a firm, no-compromise line.

From his morning session with De Gaulle, Kennedy went to the Hotel de Ville—Paris' City Hall—for the capital's official, ceremonial welcome.

A huge, enthusiastic crowd awaited him. A great cheer went up from the crowd outside as Kennedy arrived and a band struck up flourishes. A mounted contingent of Republican Guards in red-plumed, golden helmets brought their glittering sabers to salute as Kennedy entered the ornate main salon. It was packed with invited spectators.

Interior Minister Roger Frey escorted Kennedy down a reception line. The President, smiling and looking fit despite his long round of activities, shook hands cordially with city officials and guests.

Mrs. Kennedy entered the salon a few minutes later and the spectators burst into spontaneous applause.

Trim in a tailored gray suit with a pearl necklace and two diamond broches on her lapel, she bowed smilingly to her admirers.

The President was greeted by the mayor of Paris, Argentine-born Julien Tardieu, and, after the playing of national anthems, seated himself in a gilded chair.

Behind the President on a huge, draped American flag was an immense seal of the U.S. presidency. Responding to the mayor's speech of welcome, Kennedy thanked Paris for its hospitality to himself and Mrs. Kennedy and told the audience the "interests and policies of France and the United States" are directed toward supporting the widespread desire for freedom and liberty in the world today.

"Our two countries," Kennedy said, "share ideals of liberty, equality and fraternity, which are in accord with the basic aspirations of people around the world. The desire for freedom and liberty is the strongest tide in the affairs of the world in the 20th century, and the interests and policies of France and the United States are directed to that goal."

Kennedy recalled his state visit to Canada two weeks ago, and noted that debates in Canada's Parliament are in both French and English. Much of New England, to he recalled, has retained French language and cultural ties with France and he said such French influences are a source of strength in the West today.

"I salute your city, I salute your country, I salute your distinguished president," Kennedy said. "I thank you all."

Another roar of applause echoed through the salon. The reception seemed extraordinarily warm, even in comparison with that accorded President Eisenhower, a soldier-hero to many Frenchmen, on his state visit two years ago.

Serious Profession

SCARBOROUGH, England (AP)—Britain's undertakers appealed Tuesday for a more serious view of their profession. L.H. Stringer, president of the National Association of Funeral Directors, told the association's annual conference: "What we do is not funny and should not be the subject of cheap sarcasm and sly humor."

Mullins to Talk for Faubus Bonds

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—University of Arkansas President David W. Mullins will discuss Gov. Orval E. Faubus' proposed $60 million state bond issue before Education Department employees June 19.

Announcement of the talk Tuesday drew the fire of Forrest Rozzell executive secretary of the Arkansas Education Association which is opposing the bond issue.

Education Commissioner Arch Ford said Mullins was invited to appear by a staff committee headed by Miss Wilma Jimerson the department's language director. Ford said Mullins would discuss the university's plans and its needs for the $16,974,000 it would get under the bond issue.

The bonds must be approved by voters but Gov. Orval E. Faubus has not yet called an election. Bonds would be issued over a four-year period.

Rozzell objected to Mullins' appearance before the state employees and said the leader of opposition forces should get a chance to tell the other side of the story. Ford said he would invite Joshua K. Shepherd chairman of a committee opposing the bond issue if employees wanted to hear him.

Ford said however he didn't think Shepherd could tell Education Department employees anything new. He noted they are all AEA members and had read AEA literature against the bond proposal.

St. Bernard dogs are credited with saving some 2,500 lives in St. Bernard Pass in Switzerland.

The mean temperature for an average year in the Bahama Islands is 76 degrees.

The population center of the United States in 1790, the first year of the census, was 23 miles east of Baltimore. The population of the nation that year was 3,929,412.

Reds Retain a Tie With the Giants

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writers

The Cincinnati Reds, winning their sixth in a row as relievers Bill Henry and Jim Brosnan saved starter Joey Jay's sixth straight victory, beat Los Angeles, 3-7 Wednesday night and retained a tie with San Francisco for the National League. The defeat dropped the Dodgers a full game behind the Reds and Giants, who defeated St. Louis 3-2 in an afternoon game.

Pittsburgh beat Milwaukee and Warren Spahn 9-1, and the Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia 5-4.

In the American League, Detroit's lead was shaved to two games over rain-idled Cleveland when Kansas City beat the Tigers 6-4. New York regained third place by beating Boston 7-6. Chicago's White Sox rapped Baltimore 9-4 and the Los Angeles Angels defeated Washington 5-3 in 12 innings.

The Reds blew three leads at Los Angeles before Henry and Brosnan moved in. A two-out single by Jerry Lynch brought home the winning run in the ninth.

Gene Freese's second homer, a two-run shot off losing reliever Dick Farrell (4-4), made it 7-5 in the eighth. But Jay (6-3) then gave up a two-out home run by John Roseboro in the bottom of the eighth. The Dodgers next sent up left-handed swinger Duke Snider, but when Henry loped in they replaced Snider with right-handed hitter Frank Howard. It made no difference to Henry. He fanned Howard.

In the ninth, Henry gave up a single and two walks that loaded the bases with none out. That's when Brosnan hustled in.

The Giants, coming from behind with two unearned runs in the sixth for a 2-2 tie, won it with two out in the ninth when Joe Amalfitano beat out a dribbler down the third base line with the bases loaded. Curt Simmons (2-4) was the loser, while Stiller (4-0) won it with three innings of no-hit relief.

Southpaw Joe Gibbon (4-2) gave up six hits, one a homer by Hank Aaron in the eighth inning as the Pirates ended their losing streak at five. The Bucs swung for nine hits and six runs off Spahn (5-4), chasing the southpaw ace in a four-run fifth inning.

Ron Santo drove in the deciding run with a ninth-inning single for the Cubs as Robin Roberts lost his seventh in a row. Bob Anderson (2-3) was the winner for the Cubs in relief, with help from Don Elston in the ninth.

Mantle, Maris Again Power Yanks to Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees, once more powered by home runs from Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle, reclaimed third place and moved within 3 1/2 games of front-running Detroit in the American League race by beating Boston 7-6 Wednesday night. Detroit's lead was trimmed to two games over rain-idled Cleveland when Kansas City made it two straight over the Tigers, 4-1.

Baltimore slipped back to fourth with a 9-4 defeat by the Chicago White Sox, and the Los Angeles Angels, after losing 13 in a row on the road, won 5-3 in 12 innings at Washington.

In the National League, San Francisco beat St. Louis 3-2 and Cincinnati defeated Los Angeles 3-7, leaving the Giants and Reds tied for first place while dropping the Dodgers a full game behind. Pittsburgh rocked Milwaukee 9-1, and the Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia 5-4.

Maris broke a 1-1 tie with his 12th home run in the third inning off loser Billy Muffett (0-5).

Rookie Roland Sheldon won his first in the majors, although he gave up a homer by Frank Malzone, who drove in three runs for the Red Sox and needed late relief by Luis Arroyo and Danny McDevitt.

The A's made it two in a row over the Tigers and handed ace Frank Lary (7-3) his second straight setback to boot. Joe Nuxhall (3-1) was the winner with relief help from Bill Kunkel.

Al Smith's one-on-one homer triggered a three-run third inning that wrapped up the White Sox first victory over the Orioles in seven tries. Jim Landis also homered for the Sox. Frank Baumann (2-4) was the winner, Chuck Estrada (2-4) was the loser, giving up five runs on four hits and four walks in 2 2/3 innings. Both clubs had 10 hits.

The Angels finally beat the Senators on a walk and Ken Aspromonte's tie-breaking double in a two-run 12th. The Nats had tied it 3-all with an unearned run in the eighth after blowing a 2-0 lead. Ted Bowsfield (1-1) was the winner and Marty Kutyna (3-1) the loser, both in relief.

Rusk Talks for Foreign Aid Money

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk goes to Capitol Hill today to begin President Kennedy's battle for $4.75 billion in foreign aid money.

He testifies before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee against a background of senatorial demands for better administration of the vast aid program.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said events of the past year have cast many doubts on administration of the military and economic assistance programs abroad. He said there have been too many examples of countries in which the programs have been corrupted or frustrated in their aim of promoting freedom. Fulbright, committee chairman, made his observations in a statement prepared for reading at the opening of the morning session. Rusk delayed his departure for Paris to join President Kennedy in his talks with President Charles de Gaulle to give the big mutual security measure a top level send off. Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., a member of Fulbright's committee said Kennedy's request will be sharply trimmed by Congress. "More money is not the crying need," Aiken said in an interview. "What the program needs is well-qualified, well-trained personnel to administer it without better administration; more money will only make its operation worse. I'm for giving whatever can be used effectively and honestly." Fulbright said he hoped the committee could complete hearings during the next two weeks so the Senate can complete action by the end of June.

Lighter Side of the News Over U.S.

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is no doubt but what the spacious terrace that spans out from the west front of the U.S. Capitol offers one of the most pleasing prospects in Washington.

The central section overlooks the steps of Chief Justice John Marshall's neck and on a clear day a sightseer standing at the balustrade can make out the tail of Gen. Grant's horse.

There is some question in my mind, however, as to whether the terrace, idyllic though it may be, would make a proper setting for a Parisian-style sidewalk cafe.

The sidewalk cafe idea was put forth by Sen. Hubert Humphrey, a Minnesota Democrat and bon vivant, who regards the terrace, as presently constituted, as more or less a waste of space.

Propose Terrace Dining
He proposed in a Senate speech that the place be equipped with tables, benches, canopies and umbrellas to bring to the Capitol a touch of old world gracious living.

Dining on the terrace, he said, would be a "very satisfying and beautiful experience" for the thousands of tourists who visit the Capitol each spring and summer.

Humphrey's plan sounded so intriguing that I spent part of Memorial Day afternoon on the terrace, commingling with the tourists and trying to visualize it as a sidewalk cafe. That was when I began to develop some reservations.

It may be that a meal served out there would be nourishing enough to sustain a sightseer on his appointed rounds. But I strongly doubt that even the most impressionable tourist would ever regard it as a "beautiful experience."

In the first place, the atmosphere is all wrong. When I think of a sidewalk cafe, I think of a boulevardier leisurely sipping a pernod while admiring the passing parade of mademoiselles.

Would Be Confined
On the terrace, I fear, sipping would be confined to lukewarm coffee in a paper cup. And the passing parade likely would be composed of the senior class of Butterfield Falls, Wis., or some

Tide May Wash in More Bodies

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—High tide was expected to wash more bodies and wreckage ashore today from a Dutch-Venezuelan airliner in which all 61 persons aboard were killed.

The four engine jet crashed on a storm-swept Atlantic beach early Tuesday soon after taking off from Lisbon for the Azores. The plane had come from Rome and Madrid, leased by the Venezuelan airline Viasa from KLM.

There were no Americans on such place.

If coast tourists want to tramp around the halls of Congress in bluejeans and saddle shoes, that's okay with me. But somehow it just doesn't seem very Parisienne.

For potables and viands, the terrace diners presumably would be dependent on the House and Senate restaurants. Taking the stuff they serve out of doors isn't likely to improve the taste any.

In fact, it might lose something in transit.

Moreover, no tourist would find it "very satisfying" to have his victuals garnished with exhaust fumes from Independence Ave. On the whole, I share Humphrey's feeling that the terrace should be made to serve some utilitarian purpose. But I think it will have to be something more practical than a sidewalk cafe. Like maybe a skating rink.

Small Plant to Locate at Camden

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—The Jolly Manufacturing and Supply Co. of Chicago will build a $100,000 plant here for machine processing and drying of poles.

The poles, mainly utility poles 35 to 45 feet long, will be creosote treated at Franklin, Ill.

About 15 men will be employed plus an additional 18 to 30 men working in the forests to supply timber.

William C. Greer has moved from Chicago to manage the operation. He said about 200 poles would be turned out daily.

Chrysler to Move New Auto Models

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The annual press preview of Chrysler Corp.'s new automobile models will be moved away from Miami Beach this fall, but the auto firm didn't announce where.

The new models have been unveiled here for automotive writers from around the nation the past four years.

One American, William Aydelotte, had reservations to take the plane. Aydelotte, a former resident of Chicago, told a reporter, "I felt so good in Lisbon last night that I thought I'd wait for the next plane." He said he still planned to fly on to the Azores.

Carbo Guilt Blow Against Crime Group

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Frankie Carbo, alleged underworld czar of boxing, has been convicted of extortion and conspiracy in what officials call a major blow against organized crime.

But, they warn, other links between bigtime boxing and the underworld apparently exist.

Carbo and four confederates were convicted Tuesday of trying to chisel into the earnings of ex-welterweight champion Don Jordan, ranging from 25 to 125 years and fines of $30,000 to $70,000.

"This case is unique in showing what happens when big business and the underworld team up," said Special Prosecutor Alvin N. Goldstein, a former aide of New York Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan. "It's up to society to do something about it. If we stop with this conviction, the practice will continue. There are always people willing to step in and take the places of those who get caught."

The defendants were accused of trying to control Jordan's contract by threatening physical harm to his manager, Don Neseth; and Jackie Leonard, a Hollywood fight promoter.

Convicted with Carbo were Frank (Blinky) Palermo, Philadelphia fight manager who was allegedly Carbo's front man; Truman Gibson Jr., head of the now defunct International Boxing Club; and Joe Sica and Louis Tom Dragna, Los Angeles police characters.

The verdict by a jury of 10 women and 2 men climaxed a three-month trial and a two-year investigation by federal authorities and Los Angeles police into gangster-type invasion of professional boxing.

Methodists Also Rap Faubus Bonds

RUSSELLVILLE Ark. (AP)—A speaker at the North Arkansas Conference of the Methodist Church today criticized Gov. Orval E. Faubus' $60 million construction bond proposal because of its tax tie-up with Hot Springs horse racing.

A Baptist spokesman Tuesday took a similar approach in opposing the program.

The revenue from 12 additional days of horse racing at Oaklawn Park, authorized by the 1961 Legislature, is one of the tax sources pledged for retirement of the bonds if they should be approved at a yet-uncalled special general election.

Dr. William E. Brown, executive director of the affiliated Christian Civic Foundation of Arkansas, Inc., in a report prepared for the conference, quoted with approval from an editorial in the foundation's newsletter, "The Moral Angle of the Bond Issue."

The editorial said that approval of the bond issue would give the Oaklawn Jockey Club "a new lease on life for another generation—25 years at least."

"Those who see nothing wrong with the annual gambling orgy in Hot Springs will not be disturbed. But there are doubtless many voters who will think a long time before putting their approval on horse race gambling, even for the highly touted revenue return."

"The total amount of taxes involved is relatively insignificant as far as the financing of the debt is concerned. Yet the General Assembly forces us either to vote against the bonds or to interfere with the Oaklawn race track."

In an editorial Tuesday, Dr. Erwin L. McDonald editor of the Arkansas Baptist Newsmagazine, expressed opposition to the bond proposal on several grounds. The horse racing phase was one of them. He also had mentioned this feature in a previous editorial.

Brown also criticized open gambling at Hot Springs.

He noted that 43 of Arkansas' 75 counties are now dry but local option and said that some 15 more probably will vote on the matter at the 1962 general election.

Man's relationship with God was the theme of sermons at Tuesday sessions of the conference.

RUSSIAN TIPPERS

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—You never know what to expect when Russian tourists tip you, bellboys here say.

In addition to a flat 25 cents per bag, the standard tip, one suitcase-toter says he's been given Russian cigarettes, medals, or trinkets.

Cites Need of New Constitution

CAMDEN Ark. (AP)—Arkansas needs a new constitution "streamlined and geared to the age of space nuclear energy and jet propulsion" Rep. Virgil Butler of Independence County told a Camden civic club Tuesday.

Butler grandson of one of the framers of the 1874 constitution called for election of legislators next summer who would call a constitutional convention to draft a new document. Butler introduced such a bill in the 1961 legislature but it did not pass.

Butler said inequities and injustices in present-day state government could be corrected by drafting a new constitution.

JFK Must Wrestle With a Dream

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy must wrestle with another man's dream in his conversations with President Charles de Gaulle in Paris today. It's De Gaulle's dream of a new, great and grand France.

The enormously dignified—some might say vain—Frenchman is 70 now. And for the rest of his life, even if he lives to 90, it's a dream not likely to be realized.

Although the United States and Russia are the only two great powers now it's Red China, not France, which is moving up.

Except as De Gaulle sees it, there is no likely spot for France in the top echelon of world powers during the next quarter century. So the two presidents are not apt to settle much. At best they may understand each other more.

At worst De Gaulle may be hardened a little more in both his dreams and his obstinacy. Neither man can walk into the meeting room and lay a bowl of recent triumphs on the table to impress the other.

Fresh in De Gaulle's memory is Kennedy's disaster with the Cuban invasion, the erosion of American power and prestige in Laos, the Russian space flight which made the American space flight look secondary.

Kennedy, in turn, will be facing a man, 26 years his senior, whose own recent troubles may in the end overwhelm him.

De Gaulle barely squeaked through the generals' revolt in Algeria where the possibility of a new wider and bloodier revolt is still very real. After three years of talking, De Gaulle still has not brought peace there.

Because De Gaulle is 70 and the history of France since World War II has been a history of instability and unpredictability, Kennedy must feel as he talks to the French president:

"What will any promises from me to him or from him to me mean if he should disappear from the scene tomorrow? Will my generals take over? Will France even remain a democracy?"

It's this very uncertainty and long instability which would make Congress reluctant to let France have American atomic weapons or, a say-so on the use of those weapons, both of which De Gaulle would like.

Kennedy therefore can hardly soothe him by promising either. After the war, when America had both an economic and nuclear monopoly, it was convenient for De Gaulle and needy France to accept U. S. help and unquestioned leadership.

Now France is back on her feet and is developing her own nuclear power. American nuclear monopoly, broken by Russia, no longer exists.

Therefore, it is politically realistic for De Gaulle to assert French power and concern about American leadership since the United States no longer can guarantee France against Russian attack.

But De Gaulle puts himself in the position of a prima donna when he demands equal say-so with the United States in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—NATO—but does not contribute

Sounds May Give Clues to Science

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sounds from animals, sound from humans, and the piano tones that appeal to humans are subjects for science at work:

Voices of the Sea.

Dolphins, those remarkable animals of the sea, have a large and changeable repertoire of sounds that vary from clicks and whistles to quacks and blats. Furthermore they control these sounds and use them to communicate, scientists report.

Now scientists have studied the noises of restrained dolphins to see what sounds come from which situations.

A whistle from a human, for instance, brings a chorus of whistles from the dolphins. Manipulating the dolphin's body brings whistles, quacks of blats. Yet left alone dolphins seldom quack or blat.

In violent play or courtship the squawks come fairly often. Two whistles, one in crescendo, the other in decrescendo, repeated over and over are a distress signal, silencing neighbor dolphins and setting them all on a search for the distressed source.

The Sound of Music

A study of soprano voices indicates that the more trained the voice, the greater its vibrato—a warbling effect—say Norwegian scientists. They studied both untrained singers and those of world fame.

When a highly trained soprano holds a note, there is also evidence that the note has irregularities in the overtones and that this too is a product of training. Untrained sopranos without any great vibrato hold notes with more harmonic regularity.

Do-Re-Mi

Piano tuners tend to stretch the scale when they tune the piano by standard methods—making the upper tones higher and the lower tones lower than in a precise scale of pure tones.

Research engineers with some appreciation of music and music students were asked to listen to pianos tuned by such human methods and those tuned more precisely. The precise or perfectly tuned piano sounds were rejected by both groups.

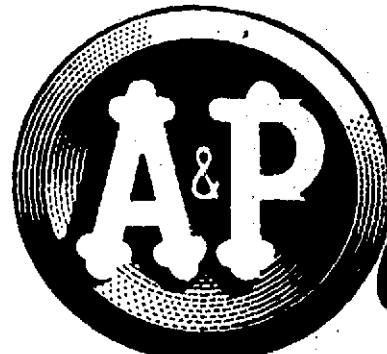

During the day, bands of eight to 18 chimpanzees lope through the African jungles in search of fruit, berries, nuts and leaves.

At night they weave branches into nests and camp in trees. The male leader of the family occupies one tree, the females and young another.

The number of French divisions NATO needs, pulls his Navy out of NATO's Mediterranean fleet, and undermines the United Nations by refusing to contribute France's share of keeping peace in the Congo.

Kennedy cannot afford a split with the Frenchman—for the sake of the NATO alliance and because he needs maximum Western unity when he talks this next weekend with Premier Khrushchev in Vienna.

Nor can France afford to go it alone, with Russia watching her over the rim of Eastern Europe. The Kennedy-De Gaulle talks, therefore, are likely to meet the French approval.

CIVIL WAR ALBUM

First Successful Union Campaign

THE BATTLE OF PHILIPPI, on June 3, 1861, launched the first successful Union campaign and Gen. George B. McClellan's rise to prominence. In late May, General McClellan, in command of the department of Ohio, on his own initiative, dispatched a small force of Indiana, Ohio and Virginia volunteers across the Ohio River into western Virginia at Philippi. By early June, his men had dispersed the Confederates, won the battle of Philippi and managed to secure enough territory to help separate a State of West Virginia from the Old Dominion (Virginia). General McClellan became so popular that he was dubbed "Little Mac: the Young Napoleon." McClellan, a graduate of West Point, was a railroad executive in Cincinnati when war broke out. He volunteered his services to the Union and was commissioned as a major general. McClellan went on from Philippi to lead an advance toward the Confederate capital of Richmond as commander of the Army of the Potomac. He was later relieved of his command, and never given another, after failing to engage the Confederates in full battle in Maryland in the fall of 1862, notably in the fight at Antietam Creek. In 1864, McClellan became the Democratic presidential candidate on a platform that denounced the war as a failure and proposed negotiations with the Confederacy.

May Proved Kind to Business

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—May was kind to business. And June should be, too. After that comes the problem of the usual summer let-down—or, specifically, whether it will be severe enough this year to halt the recovery trend.

Vacations mean closed mills and factories in many industries. More troublesome, labor and management in the auto industry will be squared away, trying for a new contract and hoping to avoid a crippling strike.

But many now think the recovery trend is building up enough momentum to carry business through with less of a slowdown than last year.

The steel industry for example normally shows a sizable drop in output during July and August, with vacations getting much of the blame. But steel demand is continuing to improve. And many steel executives now think these new orders will give them enough to work on so that the summer will see a leveling off instead of the usual letdown.

The better steel demand has been responsible for a run of 11 straight weeks of increasing output prior to the Memorial Day holiday.

This helped give May better employment statistics. Unemployment apparently shrank a bit further, as it did in April.

The construction industry also helped. Spending for new buildings rose in May to $4.8 billion, up 11 per cent from April and 3 per cent better than May 1960.

Public construction did the trick, as private building outlays so far this year have trailed 1960 by 3 per cent. Home building in particular has been disappointing, builders say, in spite of official efforts to make more mortgage money available and at lower interest rates.

Other outdoor jobs have been opening up. Many businessmen are counting on the slowly rising totals as personal incomes to give all recreational outdoor activities a nice boost in spending this summer.

Much of the recovery noted thus far has been in manufacturing. And part of that has been in the statistics that include inventories. Just as cutbacks in inventories late last year and early in 1961 made the recession look bad at the manufacturing level, so the return to building up of stocks, and to cutbacks and in some cases is making the picture brighter now.

Hemingway Is Some Improved

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—The Mayo Clinic today reported improvement in the condition of author Ernest Hemingway, under treatment here for hypertension. Hemingway was hospitalized here originally Nov. 30, 1960, but left for his Idaho home Jan. 23. He returned April 25 and has been in seclusion since that time.

Woman to Take Husband's Place

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Mrs. Armenda Mathis of Danville has been named to serve the remainder of her late husband's term as Yell County treasurer, Gov. Orval E. Faubus' office said Monday. Mrs. Mathis' husband, Thomas L. Mathis, died last week while serving his first term in the office.

Asks Vote Officials Be Voided

MORRILLTON, Ark. (AP)—Proponents of a city manager form of government here have asked that a list of officials chosen for next Tuesday's election on the matter be nullified.

A hearing before Circuit Judge Audrey Strail will be held Saturday morning.

Two members of the Conway County Election Commission met last Saturday and selected the officials for Tuesday, when residents will choose between the manager government and the present mayor-council form.

Chairman Rufus W. Morgan and Secretary Loid Sadler rejected a list tendered by pro-manager forces. They said the list they approved represented both sides.

The manager advocates contended the Saturday meeting is void on two counts. They said Sadler is ineligible to serve because of his membership on the state Penitentiary Board and that the third commissioner, Fred Mason, was not given proper notice of the meeting.

Albanians Sentenced

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—A Tirana court has sentenced four Albanians to be shot on charges of plotting against the Communist government for the United States, Greece and Yugoslavia. Radio Tirana said five other men were sentenced to prison terms running from 3 to 25 years.

Challenge to Expansion

BLITHEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A court hearing on a suit challenging expansion of the Mississippi County Hospital is scheduled July 25 after tentative construction contracts will have been awarded.

The suit filed on behalf of the Buffalo Island Betterment Association seeks to halt proposed additions to hospital units at Blitheville and Osceola. The group wants a hospital unit built in the western part of the county.

Mississippi County Chancery Court delayed hearing of the suit originally set for Monday so the hospital board could sign tentative contracts for the $630,000 program. Board members said federal Hill-Burton aid could be received if contracts were signed before June 30.

Wants U. S. Aid

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Lt. Gen. Chang Do-young, South Korea's new military premier, said today he intended to seek more economic aid from the United States, whose embassy here criticized his seizure of power.

At a news conference, he also expressed belief friendly ties between his military government and the United States would be strengthened.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., senior GOP member on Kefauver's subcommittee, has called the bill an invasion of states' authority. Not all Democrats like the bill, either.

Conviction Called Fine Cleanup

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver D-Tenn., says the conviction of Frankie Carbo has given Congress "an unparalleled opportunity to effect a final and conclusive cleanup job in professional boxing."

Carbo, long reputed to be boxing's secret boss, was convicted Tuesday in Los Angeles with four others on charges of trying to muscle in on the earnings of former welterweight champion Don Jordan.

The Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee, headed by Kefauver, starts hearings today on the senator's bill which would set up federal regulation to drive racketeers out of boxing. The bill would create the post of federal boxing commissioner with powers to regulate professional boxing.

Under his proposal, Kefauver said, "Men like Carbo and Palermo couldn't operate."

Frank (Blinky) Palermo, Philadelphia fight manager and allegedly Carbo's front man, was convicted with Carbo.

"Professional boxing in racket-ridden from top to bottom," Kefauver said in a statement prepared for the start of hearings on his bill.

The bill, however, faces an uphill fight. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has declared he is in favor of federal regulation to drive underworld characters away from the ring, but that his agency is not the appropriate one to take on the licensing powers the bill

SUSPENSE

A Short Short Story

Miss Ella was breaking her diet and her physician was her guest.

DINNER FOR TWO
By RAY GISE

They dined at one of those intimate little cafes where food is excellent and the waiters treat the patrons like wealthy relatives who are drawing up wills.

Dr. Godfrey dressed for the occasion and Miss Ella had never looked more charming. It was a celebration indeed, for Miss Ella was breaking her diet and her physician was her guest.

"It's like living again," she said.

Dr. Godfrey laughed. "Surely it isn't as difficult as that," he said. "And if it did call for self-discipline, don't you feel better because you followed my orders?"

"Oh, I do. Yes indeed," she said. "But it wasn't the food I missed so much as all my friends. Doctor, you almost made me a recluse. I was lonely."

"Lonely? I don't understand," she smiled again. "I had to do so many invitations," she explained. "Your diet was so strict that I couldn't go out for fear I would offend my hosts and hostesses."

Dr. Godfrey shrugged. "It surely didn't make you unpopular. As I remember there was a nice looking young man, a very persistent young man who almost monopolized you."

"Harry and I are no longer friends," she said. "He insisted on taking me places where I was tempted to break my diet."

The waiter appeared and served them. Dr. Godfrey said nothing until the man had finished the task and moved on again.

"You should have explained to Harry that you couldn't go against

The Flabby American Presented

Television in Review
By FRED DANIZO
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — All together, now. We will do our exercise for today: Open the window, breathe fresh air in and throw the remote control TV tuner out.

There! Last one to do it is, in the words of Tuesday night's "Bell & Howell Close-Up" on ABC-TV, "The Flabby American."

The half-hour report finished with a burst of energy after a slow start. Produced and directed by John Lynch, "The Flabby American" — no, Gertrude, it wasn't subtitled, "The Jackie Gleason Story" — spent too much time emphasizing the obvious and being superficially horrified in the Vance Packard tradition about what creature comforts are doing to us individually and collectively. When the cameras pulled up before Bonnie Prudden Dr. Glenn Olds and Coach Bud Wilkinson, the second-half of the program rolled out of its cozy hammock and somersaulted some impressive calls to action across the screen.

If this "Close-Up" examined their proposals and findings in greater detail, it would have uncorked a more forceful blow in the cause of physical fitness. This trio told us that 90 per cent of our elementary schools lack gymnasiums, that parents can give their kids' better starts in life by putting them through daily limbering up exercises and making certain that schools have effective physical fitness programs. We also were told that in general it's never too late to start flexing unused muscles by setting up our own exercise schedules.

Me? I get my exercise by frequent departure from the foam rubber couch cushion to manipulate the TV dial by a series of hand movements. That's why we call this TV-watching game, "La Dolce Vigor."

Incidentally, the sponsor of the show was in with a commercial for a remote control, push-button, automatic-loading camera. Don't just sit there showing home movies, folks. Do push ups.

Dialing and Filing: "Dobie Gillis" bogged down Tuesday night wrong," she said. "It was Harry."

in a plot that went nowhere, not even with the aid of an insert that attempted to spoof World War II movies and war bond slogans. I see where next season, Dobie will be out of the Army and in college. Why abandon the Army format? As Dwayne "Dobie" Hickman put it in a recent interview, "... you can only get so much out of it." And Sgt. Bilko beat them to it.

"The Tom Ewell Show," in which Tom portrays the father of three girls, spent a few moments departing from its format Tuesday night. In a dream sequence, we saw Tom as the father of three re-blooded, unflabby American boys. The only item in either format that still registers a small degree of freshness in Tom Ewell.

The Channel Swim: A new series of "Wisdom" conversations with world-famous "greats" returns to NBC-TV as a Sunday afternoon presentation, beginning on Sept. 17. Among those who will appear: Somerset Maugham, Nadia Boulanger, Norman Thomas, Dr. Paul Dudley White and Clement Attlee.

The first college credit course in CBS-TV's "College of the Air," which starts in September, will be "The New Biology," taught by Dr. Ray Koppelman of the University of Chicago.

Edd "Kookie" Byrnes, who leaves the parking lot to become a partner in ABC-TV's "77 Sunset Strip" private eye firm next season, will be known as Gerald Lloyd Kokson III.

"International Showtime," NBC-TV's circus series that debuts on Friday, Sept. 15, will be emceed by Don Ameche. The shows will be taped in Europe this summer.

A&M Losing 14 From Faculty

MONTICELLO, Ark. (AP) — Fourteen of Arkansas A&M's 60 faculty members are leaving the school.

That would be 23 per cent of the faculty, but President Jack Means said he regarded the staff turnover as 5 per cent since only six were teachers who had not signed contracts for next year.

Two of the departing faculty members are retiring and six are taking other jobs.

Means said he was surprised that the loss rate was not higher because of A & M's comparatively low pay. He said the national average turnover rate is 9 to 10 per cent.

Means said some of the departing teachers were not invited to return next year.
